

Your Locus of Control

Write all the things on your mind. If it is within your control to change, write it within the hand. If it is outside your control write it outside the hand.

